

Drawing Cécile Wadlow

In The Middle Of The Night

Verona Bratesch

In the midst of night, when all the hours complete their circles and each one looks toward North; when today and tomorrow sleeplessly touch;
when thoughts met one another on swaying bridges;
when I no longer attempt to look behind me.

Translated from the German by Werner Manheim

